Client Case Study

Inconnection delivered a virtual office Christmas party for our IT client based in the Midlands. Because of Covid restrictions they weren't able to get together but that didn't stop them wanting to reward their staff for all their hard work throughout the year. Inconnection delivered a fully managed service including all technical delivery and support.

"Thank you so much for delivering a great event. The pre-event sends were fantastic and everyone commented on how premium they were. The entertainment was just right for the event and really lifted everyone's lockdown spirits"
